

Background

Since 2005 Avivo has worked with leading engineering companies within the offshore and automotive industry.

Avivo covers engineering disciplines for project execution such as analysis, structural, piping, research & development and management.

Avivo offers qualified, competitive and tailored services based on technical excellence within our field of expertise. Except for the key factors of operation mentioned above, our success is based on modern and efficient methods of building, running and maintaining an organization that flows well with the dynamic market changes.

Our success is based on our relationships and on the long-term and committed partnerships we develop. We are constantly building a stronger profile as a consultancy organization which covers analysis, mechanical construction and project leadership to our customers.

Avivo has always had a philosophy of doing a very small number of things extremely well. Quality and discipline in your profession are key factors for building a successful business and career.

Fast Facts

Founded: 2005

Headquarters: Stora Åvägen 21, 436 34 Askim, Sweden

Website: www.avivo.se

About us: Avivo delivers and dispatches design and engineering services to some of the largest industry leading corporations. We provide and deliver high standards.

We have been a reliable partner in the industry since 2005 carrying out projects successfully and with great responsibility.

History

Discovering the market gap, Avivo was established in late 2005 and was initially operating within the field of mechanical design. The company was known as Avivo Design. The ambition was to aid and provide the Norwegian oil and gas market with services within mechanical construction.

On 21 January 2009 Avivo Design announced a new corporate name and identity: Avivo Consulting AB (Ltd.). The name further strengthens the company by narrowing down our business idea and brands the commitment to providing value-adding solutions for all Avivo's customers.

In late 2013, celebrating 8 years of excellence, Avivo drops the word Consulting from the corporate moniker. Now, known more simply as Avivo AB, the name better reflects the steady but relentless move into the wider field of design and engineering, namely providing in house and external engineering services.